The “I have a Dream” speech was delivered by Martin Luther King, Jr., a civil rights activist and Baptist minister on August 28, 1963, during the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom. He spoke to over 250,000 people from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C. He called for civil and economic rights and an end to racism in the United States, using references to the country’s Founding Fathers, the Bible, the Constitution, and the Declaration of Independence. The speech was a highlight of the protest, a defining moment of the civil rights movement, and one of the most famous speeches in history.

Excerpt: “I say to you today, my friends, though, even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up, live out the true meaning of its creed: We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.”

We Celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Day on January 15, 2024.

Interesting Holiday Food Facts

Candy Canes were invented to keep kids quiet. Legend has it that candy canes were invented in 1670, when the choirmaster of the Cologne Cathedral commissioned candies shaped like a shepherd's crook so they could be handed out to children attending the church's crèche scene.

Sugar plums have nothing to do with plums. From the Sugar Plum Fairy to visions of sugar plums dancing in children's heads, sugar plums definitely have a place in Christmas lore. But what are they, exactly? You might not have guessed by their name, but these sweet treats are a type of candy. When they first came around in the 1600s, the term "plum" denoted any dried fruit, and typical sugar plums are made with a combination of dried fruit and spices that are rolled into balls, then coated with a hard candy shell.

Animal Crackers were originally a Christmas treat. Animal crackers were first introduced around Christmastime in 1902. The string on the box was originally intended to be used to hang the boxes on Christmas trees.

Fruitcake was intended to last the whole year. If you've ever received a fruitcake as a gift, you probably know that those suckers can last for a long time without ever going bad, thanks to the preservative properties of the sugar and the booze they contain. Actually, that's a part of the design: they were originally intended to be baked at the end of the harvest season and saved to be eaten at the beginning of the harvest season the following year, for good luck.

Turkey wasn't the main dish at Medieval Christmas Feasts. Roast turkey or another type of poultry is the main protein in a typical British Christmas dinner today, but back in medieval times the preferred poultry was actually peacock! Boar was also a Christmas mainstay. It wasn't until Henry VIII had turkey for Christmas in the sixteenth century that it became the norm.

Australians usually grill on Christmas. Its funny to think that Christmas falls right in the middle of summer Down Under, but it does. The meal is still based on traditional English and North American traditions, but in order to avoid the hot oven most Australians actually prepare their Christmas dinner on the barbie.

Holiday Dinners are usually contain over 7,000 calories. Between the wine, mixed nuts, multiple helpings of turkey and sides, pie, cheese, and booze, the eating and drinking done during Christmas Day alone can add up to more than 7,000 calories per person, according to one study. Maybe skip that second piece of pie this year.

Don't forget the Cookies and Milk. The tradition for leaving cookies for Santa started when Christmas Trees used to be decorated with food and those decorations would disappear during the night, so it was speculated that Santa had a late-night snack while delivering presents..

County Offers Comprehensive Plan Draft for Review

The Wayne County Commissioners presented the final draft of the Wayne County Comprehensive Plan Update, required by the state every 10 years, for public review. The Commissioners plan to formally adopt the plan in early 2024.

Work began on the two-year Comprehensive Plan Update project in 2022 under the direction of the Wayne County Planning Commission and County Planning/ GIS office with assistance from a consulting team from Woodland Design Associates and Shepstone Management.

This multi-year process looked at where the county stands at all levels, including everything from population and demographics to economic development and transportation. The consultants surveyed the public and held meetings with critical stakeholders in the community. The Comprehensive Plan also includes the Natural Resources & Outdoor Recreation Plan, adopted in 2021, and the Housing Assessment and Strategy completed earlier this year.

The process takes stock of Community Facilities, Cultural and Historic assets and more, involving a series of studies or analysis of everything from population & demographics to economic development and transportation. Taking all of that information into account, the Comprehensive Plan then sets out goals and objectives and formulates specific plans, looking at ways to reach those goals.

The draft of the Wayne County Comprehensive Plan Update represents the community strategy for managing change, but is not a binding legal document. It is a plan for dealing with growth while maintaining a balance between appropriate economic development and the preservation of our natural resources.

In 2010, when the Commissioners adopted the last Comprehensive Plan Update, they wanted all the work and recommendations it contained to have a real impact on the future. The result has been Wayne Tomorrow! and a way of doing business that promotes collaboration and cooperation. Wayne Tomorrow! stands poised to carry out the vision established by the Comprehensive Plan, making this update an unprecedented opportunity to help guide Wayne County toward a shared vision of opportunity and prosperity for everyone.

Human Trafficking and Exploitation of Older Adults

As we head into January, we celebrate National Human Trafficking Awareness month. By now, most of us have heard the term “human trafficking”. Yet when speaking about this topic, older Americans are not the target group that come to mind. To put it simply, human trafficking is profiting from the exploitation of others through means of force, fraud, or coercion. This can take on various forms and is often intertwined with additional crimes such as domestic violence, sexual assault, and other forms of abuse.

Due to the high number of societal and individual biases, such as ageism, adults over the age of 60 are placed within a much higher risk of victimization than other age groups. Senior citizens are commonly thought to have less bodily autonomy and are more socially isolated. They are also the least likely to report abuse to the authorities.

Exploitation and abuse can present differently for each person. Each day, older adults and adults with disabilities are being trafficked for their government benefits such as Social Security and Veterans’ benefits. Recruitment by traffickers happens through hospitals, jails, homeless shelters, mental health providers, and legitimate licensed care facilities. Victims are often locked away, living in deplorable conditions, robbed of their money, and unable to reach out for help.

LiHeap or the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program is a grant to help eligible people pay for heat. HEAP offers both cash and crisis grants. The payment is sent directly to your utility company or fuel provider, and it will be credited on your bill. Grants range from $300-$1000 and are based on household size, income, and fuel type. Crisis grants may be available if you have an emergency situation and are in jeopardy of losing your heat. You can receive more than one Crisis grant, as necessary, during the season until the maximum benefit of $1000 is reached. Crisis situations include broken heating equipment or leaking lines that must be fixed or replaced, lack of fuel, termination of utility service, danger of being without fuel (less than a 15 day supply) or having utility service terminated (received a notice that service will be shut off within the next 60 days).

The income limit for LIHEAP for an individual, that is a gross income of $21,870 per year, and for a family of four $45,000 per year. (Add $7,710 per additional family member.)

Pennsylvanians can apply for LIHEAP now through April 5, 2024 online at www.dhs.pa.gov/COMPASS, by phone toll-free at 1-866-550-4355, or in person at the Wayne County Assistance Office is located at 15 Innovation Drive, Lake Ariel, PA 18436, telephone number 570-253-7118.

For Those Receiving In-Home Meal Delivery:

Currently all home delivered meals will be frozen, we are not serving them hot at this time. You will receive one delivery each week. Unfortunately due to staffing, we cannot guarantee set delivery days.

During these winter months we encourage everyone to prepared for those days when your home-bound meals will not be delivered. The homebound meal delivery program runs along with the Wayne Highlands School District. When the Wayne Highlands School District closes for inclement weather, you will not be receiving delivery on that day.

Again for this month and February you will receive a box containing three emergency meals.

These meals are for the days when the homebound meal program does not deliver to you due to inclement weather. You will receive a box on the first full week of the month.

Meals may not be delivered if your driveways and/or sidewalks are not clear.

Wayne County Transportation System's Consumers:

If the schools are closed for inclement weather which affects roads and travel, the Senior Centers, Home Delivered Meals and County Transportation System will not operate.

Wayne Highlands School District: ALL Centers closed.

Western Wayne School District only: Hamlin Center closed.

Wallenpaupack School District only: Hawley Center & Adult Day program closed.

If the schools are closed for other reasons (i.e. power outages), a determination will be made if the Centers, Home Delivered Meals and Transportation will operate. This will be announced on local radio (Bold Gold Media), TV (WBRE) and the County website (www.waynecountypa.gov) as early in the morning as possible, no later than 7:00 a.m.

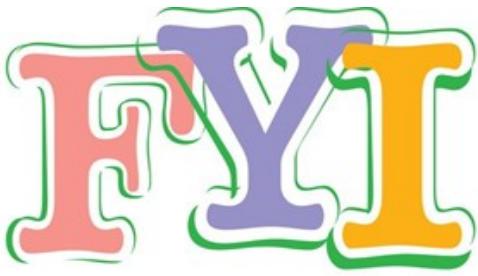

If the schools have a delay for inclement weather, the Senior Centers and Home Delivered Meals will work a normal schedule with no delay. Transportation will attempt to run as close to schedule as possible.

PLEASE NOTE: The only time the offices will close is when the Courthouse closes. Transportation may cancel your ride if the local roads are not plowed or safe to transport – even if the department is open/operating during inclement weather or questionable road conditions. A determination will be made on a case by case basis. *Early closing of schools will be considered on a case by case basis.*
